Sage hydrosol

Hydrosol is a water extract of the plant obtained by distillation. Water vapor passes through the layers of sliced sage and pulls the compounds that lie within the plant and its condensation creates hydrosol. In other words, sage hydrosol is a condensed water vapor that contains dissolved plant components and essential oil molecules in each drop.

This precious liquid is distinguished by its specific taste, smell, chemical composition and strong therapeutic properties. The wide spectrum of action that this plant possesses can be pronounced most precisely in the form of hydrosol.

Sage Hydrosol is a 100% natural product made from wild (self-grown) sage without any additives or preservatives. It contains only water and dissolved herbal components of sage. In the end of the process, the hydrolysis is further stabilized by microfiltration of 0.2 µm. In that way the production of this unique quality hydrosol has been completed.

Sage hydrosol is used as a mouthwash for ophthalmitis and gums inflammation, or for gurgling and spraying in the throat inflammation. It is also ideal for the care of mixed, oily and problematic skin types prone to inflammation and generally skin disorders to which it is applied locally. It is also used in hair treatments as well as for the treatment of wrinkles and scars.

Sage hydrosol usage

• Skin application - spray hydrosol several times a day on the problematic part of the skin and let it absorb into the skin.

• Oral application - spray several times a day to solve oral cavity and throat problems. Also, in case of a strong inflammation, use a sterile gauze or cotton pad soaked in sage hydrosol and apply gently on the affected area.

Notes and other information

Using sage hydrosol should be avoided in patients with hypertension and during the first trimester of pregnancy.
